Romance and Reality.

Hermia—Vladimir Eckstein, you have asked for a meeting, and I give it; what is the result? You say you never loved me! What does all them letters mean, all of them writ in poetry an performed wid wilets? I throw the base colored in your teeth (with bitterness); nothink you kin say will vindicate yer conduct to me!

Vladimir (gazing at stack of letters)—Oh! wot a ass I've bin!—Truth.

Very True.

An excellent reproof once given by General Robert E. Lee to two members of his staff is printed in Life, written by John Eaton Cooke.

On one occasion two members of his staff sat up late at night discussing a keg of whisky and a problem in algebra. Upon meeting one of them in the morning General Lee inquired as usual after his health and learned in reply that he was suffering from a headache.

"Ah, colonel," remarked the old man, "I have often observed that when the unknown quantities x and y are represented by a keg of whisky and a tin op, the solution of the equation is usually a headache."

The Charm of Winning.

Decker—I sat in a poker game for 47 hours straightaway last week, but as I won I am satisfied.

Shuffle—How much did you win?

Decker—Oh, I finished 18 cents ahead.—Philadelphia North American.

Damsen Plum Jam.

Wash ten pounds of damsons, put them into a porcelain lined kettle, add one cupful of water, cover the kettle and stand for 20 minutes, stirring three or four times; press the damsons through the colander to remove the stones. Return the pulp to the kettle after weighing it. To each pound allow three-fourths of a pound of granulated sugar, spread the sugar out into baking pans, put it into the oven to dry and heat. Boil the pulp 15 minutes, then add the sugar, stir until the sugar is dissolved and boil about ten minutes. Turn this into jars or tumblers, and when cool out paper layers for the tops of the jars or tumblers, brush them over with the white of egg and paste them down so as to make them air-proof.

A Very Simple Thing to Do.

M. M. WATSON DISCHARGED.

The case of M. M. Watson, who was charged with stealing a keg of beer from the Seattle Brewing and Malting Company, was dismissed by Judge Glasgow yesterday afternoon. The judge held that if the prisoner was bright enough to discriminate in favor of pure Rainier Beer he deserved release. On tap or in bottles at the Criterion.
